Phone privacy major concern Illinois Bell spokesman says

Illinois Bell's first concern always has been to protect the right to privacy of its customers, D. H. Shure, vice-president and counsel for Illinois Bell, said in a statement released here Friday.

"Nothing is more sacred to this company than the privacy of telephone communications," he said.

Shure's statement said: "There is not now, nor has there ever been, anything 'secret' or 'hidden' about Illinois Bell's wiretapping policies, including discovery of illegal taps. Any such charge is pure bunkum."

"We do not wiretap. We do not bug. We never have."

"We keep all company records as long as is practical to do so. When Illinois Bell employs field illegal taps, the illegal wiretapping devices and associated records are kept for at least two years up to six years if an investigation was underway. Illinois Bell retains records as long as any phone company and longer than most."

"Our policies are clear, legal, above-board, wide open. Over the years, they were spelled out in innumerable times — and we had no hesitation about telling anybody about what we were doing."

"Wiretapping is illegal in Illinois by anyone except federal authorities who have obtained specific authorization under federal law allowing them to place a tap."

"When Illinois Bell employs field illegal wiretaps, they now notify the customer, the state's attorney and the FBI that an illegal tap has been found. The tap is left on location 24 to 48 hours in order to give law enforcement agencies the opportunity to examine the device before it is removed."

"We didn't always do it this way and for what we think was a good reason. Prior to last August we reported any illegal wiretap directly to the customer. We did not retain the records and devices in these cases for two years, longer if needed. We did not inform law enforcement agencies unless requested by the customer — and for what we thought was good reason."

"Very simply, the majority of illegal wiretaps which the phone company discovered involved domestic problems. We felt the customer was the aggrieved party and had the right to know first about any illegal taps. So we told the customer all about it. It was the customer's choice. If the customer wanted to call in the law, it was fine with us."

"We would cooperate fully with both the law and the customer on any course they wished to pursue. In other words, we let the public decide. We earnestly believed that our policy was proper and best for the customer. We think customers agreed with us."

"Our policy was no secret. It still isn't. Nothing is under the table. There is nothing illegal. We thought we were protecting the customer, in many cases preventing embarrassment."

"We did not change a bad policy for a good policy. We simply changed a good policy for another good policy. And it was done on the initiative of Illinois Bell's management."

"There is now a new state law which requires anybody finding an illegal wiretap to report it to the state's attorney who, in turn, will notify the customer."

"Illinois Bell has always complied with any lawful demands for specific information on wiretapping. There is no question the company will continue to do so when it gets a request from any agency or government body."

"We have very tight guidelines when it comes to protecting the public's telephone privacy, and guard them jealously. Our employees know their obligation. These policies are a condition of employment. The great majority of our employees are dedicated and loyal. But over the years, we have found employees who have violated these rules of privacy and have fired them."

"Illinois Bell has no control over legal wiretaps. These are taps placed by a federal agency under federal law, at the state's attorney's request, and if it proves to be a legal tap, the device must be left in place. If the device was discovered following a customer report of line trouble, the customer is notified by the company that the tap exists, but the company will not remove it."

If the customer requests further information, the company suggests that the U. S. attorney's office be contacted."

Price urges revision of U.S. lobbying law

Representative Melvin Price (D-23rd Ill. District) testified last week before the House Committee on Standards of Official Conduct today in support of his bill, the Legislative Activities Disclosure Act, which he said is one of the first bills designed to call attention to and realistically deal with the problems inherent in the lobbying process.

Price, one of the first members of Congress to become actively involved in campaign and legislative reform, told the committee:

"The Committee on Standards of Official Conduct reported out this bill on Dec. 10, 1971, but the 92nd Congress ended before the bill completed its journey through the legislative process."

"In House Report 92-741 is a detailed analysis of the Legislative Activities Disclosure Act, the purpose of which is to require, through filing of periodic notices and reports, the disclosure of activities, income and expenditures of certain persons who attempt to influence Congress with respect to the outcome of legislation."

"H.R. 46 covers only communications directly or ultimately to Congress or any of its components, which involve efforts to influence legislation."

"The types of communications covered by the bill are first defined very broadly to include any communication intended to persuade Congress to arrive at a specific result, but the bill then limits the broad definition by a number of exempt communications compelled by the First Amendment or other considerations."

"The bill describes three general classes of persons who fall within its scope: 'First, there is the 'legislative agent,' a person retained in a capacity other than as a regular employee to attempt to influence legislation for his client. This is typically an attorney or a public relations kind of counsel."

"This person must register for his client. This is typically an attorney or a public relations kind of counsel."

"The second category includes individuals who, as paid officers or employees of another person or organization, devote all or a portion of their time to efforts to influence legislation."

"Their reporting requirements apply only after they have engaged in such activity on site or more days in a semiannual filing period. Similarly, their employer must also file reports. Joint filings in both of the above cases are permitted."

"The third category is the 'grassroots lobbyist.' In this class, the requirements of the bill fall not on the act of influencing legislation, but on the act of soliciting others to do so. In all cases, the covered person

Suit on injury by power line

Union Electric Co. and Ronald J. Winkler, an agent of Union Electric, are defendants in a two-count suit, seeking $500,000 in each count, filed in Madison County Circuit Court by Granite City Trust and Savings Bank for John William Nash, 13, of Mitchell.

The suit alleges the youth was injured Oct. 15, 1975, when he climbed a tower in a field at the end of Carolyn Boulevard in Mitchell and touched a 34,000-volt electrical line.

Allegations include the absence of a fence, barrier, warning signs or notices to keep off the tower, and the assertion that bars on legs of the towers were within several feet of the ground, providing ladder access to children in the area.

Public needed in crime prevention

Getting the public involved in helping the police prevent and stop crime in the area is the prime goal of the Crime Blocker Program, Granite City Police Officer Glenn Wright told the Thursday noon meeting of the Granite City Optimist Club at the YMCA.

"A crime blocker is a concerned citizen who observes suspicious activities or emergency situations and gives that information to the police," Wright said.

The officer noted that where the program has been used in other cities, it has proven effective, particularly in the prevention of home burglaries.

Wright announced that an orientation program for citizens interested in helping with the program will be held from 7 p.m. until 9 p.m. on Tuesday, Dec. 16, at a place to be announced later.

Optimist President David Brooks announced that a board of directors meeting will be held Thursday, Dec. 11, at 8 p.m. in the board room of the Granite City Trust and Savings Bank.

A Gift for the CHILD

On that first Christmas, so long ago, came strangers bearing gifts for the wondrous Child. And thus began our warm tradition of holiday giving.

This year, we are trying to relive the spirit of that first Christmas. We have asked our employees to imagine the Christ Child has been born this Christmas. We asked them to present a Gift for the Child. A gift, created or bought, that shows the depth of their feeling at the coming of this miracle.

These gifts will be on display beneath our lobby Christmas tree. You will be surprised at the ingenuity, variety and exquisite beauty of their selections.

And, just in time for Christmas, these gifts will be distributed among the less fortunate children in the Tri-Cities by the Salvation Army.

And if you would like to submit a gift, we will display it underneath our tree as your token of the true revival of the holiday spirit.

M-V Rotary honored

The Madison-Venice Rotary Club at its Wednesday noon meeting in the Madison Recreation Center was presented a certificate of appreciation for the club's work in the United Way drive.

Dave Fox, general chairman of the area campaign, presented the award to Wayne Scannell, the M-V area drive chairman.

"We are pleased with the response the United Way drive was accepted by the people in the Madison and Venice areas. The 17 per cent increase in contributions this year over last is an increase to be proud of," Fox said.

The club organized into teams to launch a 30-day "hard sell" bi-centennial tie sale, profits from which will be used by the club for charitable and civic projects.

The ties sell for $5 and have several small 1976 and 1976 American flags on a dark blue background.

Safety, other airport issues not answered

By GARY SCHNEIDER
Press-Record Staff Writer

The U.S. Department of Transportation has more questions than it has answers on the issue of whether a new major St. Louis area airport should be constructed in Illinois or whether Lambert St. Louis Airport can be expanded to meet the future air demands of the St. Louis region, it was reported by DOT officials last week.

At a briefing at the Soldiers' Memorial Auditorium in St. Louis, Mrs. Judith T. Connor, assistant secretary for environment, safety and consumer affairs for DOT, reviewed massive reports the DOT has received.

The reports were from the Federal Aviation Administration, Airline Pilots' Association, St. Louis Metropolitan Area Airport Authority (in Illinois), Missouri-St. Louis Metropolitan Airport Authority (in Missouri) and several consulting firms hired to study the airport issue.

Mrs. Connor presented a lengthy DOT "issue paper" which summarized the results of each study and broke the airport issue into five major question areas.

Primary questions concern the accuracy of forecasts on future aviation demands and the feasibility of improving Lambert to meet future needs. Questions include where general aviation will go if Lambert cannot handle it, whether air traffic control technology will be able to increase Lambert's capacity adequately, and whether the additional safety factor a new airport would create would justify the costs involved.

Each segment ends with a list of questions which, Mrs. Connor says, have not been adequately answered and must be answered before a final decision has been made.

"I can assure you the secretary (of DOT, William T. Coleman Jr.) has made no decision in this matter and I have made no decision," Mrs. Connor said.

She said she hopes many of the remaining questions can be answered during a day-long public hearing in St. Louis Dec. 18 which Secretary Coleman will attend.

"For Secretary Coleman to come here and spend a full day on this question shows that we are very concerned about this issue," she added.

She emphasized that written documents and opinions are being accepted by DOT until the bearing, and all will get full consideration by Coleman before a decision is reached or whether to commit federal funds to a new airport at Columbia-Waterloo in Illinois. Illinois airport supporters were concerned over several points in the issue paper, including the use of the year 2000 for planning purposes.

Even if DOT's planning shows the need for a new airport before the year 2000, Illinois supporters are afraid references to the date will indicate there can be indefinite delay before construction begins. They view the need as urgent.

Another point of concern for backers of the Columbia-Waterloo site in Illinois was a lengthy discussion of the possibility of "land banking" at Columbia-Waterloo, involving purchasing the land now and leasing it back to the present owners until a decision is made to construct a new airport.

Mrs. Connor said she does not feel DOT has the legal authority to commit funds for land banking, but that federal legislation is pending which could give DOT that authority in the near future.

"Land banking, at this time, seems to be an issue for the state and private interests," she commented.

Questions to be answered before a final decision is reached include the accuracy of aviation demand forecasts which are predicting that in the year 2000 about 13.7 million passengers will board or exit 277,000 scheduled air carrier passenger operations.

In 1970, there were 3.1 million Lambert passengers served by 172,000 operations. The predictions show rapid growth, including the increase of nearly four times in the number of passengers between 1970 and 2000.

Using the figures termed the "most likely" estimates, it is being predicted each airplane landing or taking off from a hemmed-in and congested Lambert in 1995 would experience a 6-minute delay, losing about 44,000 aircraft hours annually.

And 7.6 per cent of the flights, carrying 2 1/2 million passengers per year, would experience delays of more than 30 minutes each.

A new airport at Columbia-Waterloo would have an average delay time of only about 1.3 minutes in 1995. It is estimated that a six-minute average delay translates to about $50 million in aircraft operating costs and passenger time values.

Questions concerning feasibility of improving Lambert to meet future demands include whether interest in the level of the runways to allow instrument landing approach systems to be placed into use.

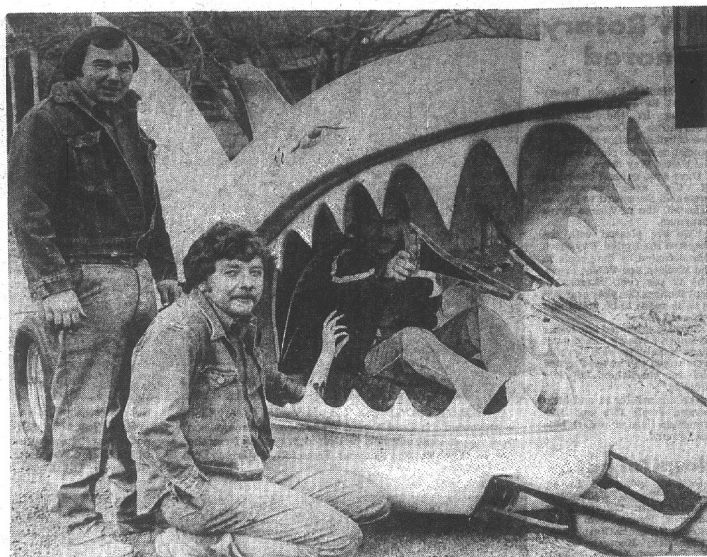

The future of general aviation if Lambert has to restrict most of its operations to passenger flights also is in question.

About 165,000 general aviation flights would have to overflow to reliever airports by 2000, compared to 120,000 last year, and there are questions whether there will be enough reliever airports to handle that volume.

There is disagreement whether future improvements in air traffic control systems will be able to significantly increase the number of flights per hour Lambert can handle, the report noted.

The final point was safety. There is general agreement that an Illinois airport would be safer than Lambert attempting to operate at full capacity.

The DOT paper notes there

MY, WHAT BIG TEETH. This "Jaws" machine was exhibited at the International Custom and New Cycle and Van Show held in St. Louis. With the motor-powered vehicle are its creators: Norman "Sonny" Past, standing; Joe Dickie, kneeling; and Dennis Locandro, inside, all of Granite City. Measuring 21 feet in length and 7 1/2 feet in height, the vehicle raises up and down about one foot, and its motion is enhanced by lighted eyes and by full-fin taillights that blink vertically in sequence. Locandro is sitting in an interior of red and pink velvet upholstery. A fake arm serves as the gearshift lever.

of safety the new airport would provide justifies the cost of a new airport and the resulting economic effect on the St. Louis metropolitan area, including the western portion of St. Louis County.

One apparently unpopular possibility would be to abolish both states' airport authorities and to start over again with a bi-state institution planning the future of air transport in the St. Louis area.

Mrs. Connor invited everyone to send written opinions to the Department of Transportation for consideration, particularly opinions and data that can help Secretary Coleman answer the many still unanswered questions.

Dress-A-Doll winners

Mrs. Mary Auferheide, 666 Bend Road, was named grand prize winner of the annual Dress-A-Doll contest sponsored by the Granite City Trust & Savings Bank. Judging in the contest was completed last week, according to Ernest A. Karandjef, president of the bank.

Legal opinion cited in state pay to schools

"We can't print money—and we can't spend money we don't have," Dr. Joseph M. Cronin, state superintendent of education, conceded last week in commenting on the decision of the State Board of Education to distribute state aid to schools on a "full-entitlement" basis.

"What we are doing," Supl. Cronin said, "is living up to our legal obligation to distribute the funds according to the state's full-funding formula."

"Our legal counsel tells us that we have no discretion to reduce the monthly aid payments except for the twelfth or last payment each year."

"There is no increase in the total amount of funds we will be paying—just a speed-up of the payment," he emphasized.

Dr. Cronin pointed out that public school districts are being warned that they may receive less money in that last payment and should prepare for this contingency.

"We all hope that the economy will turn around enough to help restore some educational funds late next spring," he said, "but no one can count on this happening."

"However," Dr. Cronin concluded, "the full payments now will help reduce the need for borrowing and will lessen interest costs for many schools—and that is a worthwhile objective."

Other winners in the contest and the category in which they took first prize are:

Wanda Mansfield, 3702 Franklin Ave., fancy dress; Mrs. Charles Spies, 548 Margaret Ave., sensible dress; Mrs. Andrea Oliver, 2547 East 24th St., knit and crochet; Mrs. Margaret Taylor, 2901 Cayuga St., storybook character; Miss Patti Taylor, 2901 Cayuga St., nationality dress; Miss Jo Ann Barco, 1222 Meridian Ave., special category, and Mrs. Margaret Fecht, 2601 Cleveland Blvd., Bicentennial dress.

Ninety doll entries, including the prize-winning entries, will remain on display in the bank lobby until Dec. 12. They then will be distributed to local charity agencies as Christmas gifts to needy children in the community.

Mrs. Auferheide, as grand prize winner, will receive a $50 savings bond and all other winners will receive $25 savings bonds.

The program is open to hospital administrators, assistant administrators and financial and business managers. Topics will include "Update on the Financial Implications of Health Care Legislation," "How to Identify Charity Patients," and "Changes in State and Federal Collection Laws and How They Affect the Hospital."

A new Illinois law guarantees employees who are fired or laid off from their jobs the right to continue group accident and health insurance policies for a six-month period.

Previously, an employee who was terminated involuntarily was guaranteed coverage under such policies for only 30 days following termination.

The Illinois State Bar Association says the new law, which became effective Oct. 1, 1975, does not mean the employer must continue to pay for or all of the premium.

If the terminated employee decides within the 30-day period after termination to continue the policy, the individual must pay the premium.

The premium rate will be the same as the group rate when the individual was employed.

The state legislature acted in response to the economic recession, which has seen many layoffs and cutbacks in Illinois industry and business. The new law is only a temporary measure, expiring July 1, 1977.

Within ten days before or after an employee is terminated involuntarily, the employer must notify the insurance company which writes the group accident or health insurance plan, giving the last known address of the terminated employee.

Within ten days after the insurance company receives the notice, it must write to the employee with details of how the policy can be continued in force and the rate of premium.

If the employee elects to continue coverage, notice must be delivered within ten days to the insurance company by certified mail. It is then the obligation of the terminated worker to pay the premium.

Nursing school receives grant

The School of Nursing at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville has been awarded $65,235 for support of its nursing capitation grant program, President John S. Rendleman has announced.

The funds from the Public Health Service will be administered under the direction of Patricia Forni, dean of the School of Nursing.

With the grant, the school will be able to increase the number of nursing students, particularly disadvantaged students, and will provide funds for curriculum improvement.

Police; Frank Dutko, chief of police of Madison; Donald Bridick, juvenile officer of Madison; Mayor Mike Sasyk of Madison; and Bruce Rotter, president of Law Enforcement Post 10-4 sponsored by Madison Police Unit 110, who served as master of ceremonies.

Some of the basic precautions offered to protect a home were: Notify your police department that you're going to be away from home for a certain period of time; ask police to check your home regularly while you're gone; and tell them who has a key to your home.

Don't advertise that you are going on vacation in the newspaper or radio; wait until after returning to report on the trip.

Cancel all deliveries. A pileup of newspapers is a sure tip that you are away.

When going away in the summer, arrange to have your lawn cut and in the winter see to it that someone shovels your walks in case of snow.

Leave a lamp or two connected to an electric timer device can be bought for about $10 at an electrical supply store. Set the timer so the lights in the home go on at dusk and off at normal bedtime. It was suggested that a person plug in a television or a radio into a timer to add to the illusion that people are in the house.

One of the best anti-burglary precautions is to ask a trusted neighbor to watch the house. Such a step would have saved one family $20,000. Uniformed burglars drove up to this family's house in a moving van and loaded it with all of the contents of the home, including wall-to-wall carpeting. A neighbor who watched the entire proceeding told detectives, "I thought they were moving out."

Whether on vacation or just away from home for a few hours, the law enforcement representatives suggested that a person:

Be sure to lock all doors and all windows when leaving home. In a third of all residential burglaries, police find doors and windows left open, which is the same as putting out the welcome mat for a burglar.

Use a cylinder-type lock bolt on all outside doors, with the slot protected by metal and make sure the bolt goes far enough into the slot so it can't be pushed back with a thin instrument such as a pocket knife or a plastic credit card.

Reinforce the rear door in structuring a parcel service to leave a package with a neighbor. The parcel didn't come, but a burglar did.

TRUCK IS LOOTED

A $250 citizens' band radio was stolen from the truck of Homer Horn, Mason, Ill., parked in the Grant City parking lot, it was reported at 2:40 p.m. Thursday. The left wing window of the truck was forced open to allow the door to be opened by reaching through.

Cut back trees and shrubs that hide doors and first-floor windows.

Close your garage door when you leave home. An open garage door and an empty garage are a sure tipoff to the would-be burglar that you are not home. If you own a second car, it's a good idea to leave it conspicuously parked in your driveway.

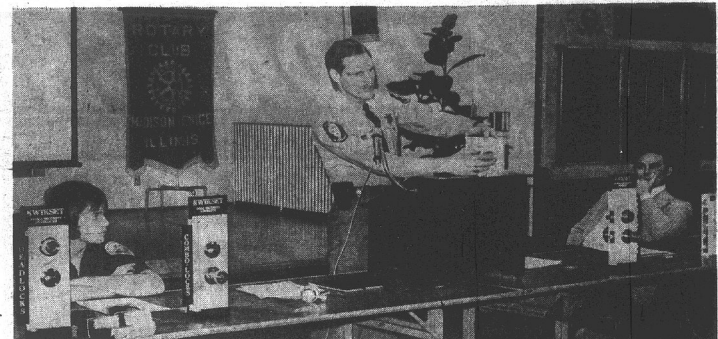

Never close drapes or blinds completely. Closed drapes and blinds are a sign people are away and help the burglar operate behind them without being seen.

Be wary of suspicious calls who may be casing your home for burglary possibilities. Don't give information over the telephone as to when you are home and when you are not.

Don't assume that burglaries happened only at night. There are as many daytime burglaries as night burglaries.

Dogs are a good protection, but should not be confined to one section of the house. Don't rely completely on a dog as they can be poisoned, subdued and even stolen themselves.

The officials pointed out that according to the FBI Uniform Crime Reports burglaries have risen by 53 per cent in the last five years, with 75 per cent of them involving forced entry; 62 per cent in the daytime; 62 per cent to residences; 53 per cent committed by persons under 18 years of age.

TIME IS IMPORTANT. A burglar can not afford to waste time and a well-made security device on the front and back doors of a home will slow down the thief. Trooper Jon Lybarger of the Illinois State Police, center, emphasized Wednesday at a burglary prevention program held in the Madison Recreation Center. From left are Bruce Rotter, president of Explorer Post 10-4 which organized the program as a public service; Trooper Lybarger, and Chief of Police Frank Dutko, Madison. Also participating in the program, but not shown, were Madison Mayor Mike Sasyk and Madison Juvenile Officer Donald Bridick. (Press-Record Photo)

Muddy holiday season in state century ago

Illinois had its "January thaw" the last week in December 1875 and the result was a muddy Christmas season. On the last day of the year, the Peoria Daily Transcript said, "The temperature yesterday was that of a balmy day in June."

Other century-old newspapers from various parts of the state in the collections of the Illinois State Historical Library reported similar weather conditions.

On Christmas Day, the Rock Island Union said, "Mud, mud, mud! Such is the general condition of things all over town."

The Cairo Bulletin's weather report on Dec. 28 read, "Friday it was cool but pleasant. Saturday (Christmas) was about the same. The forenoon of Sunday was warm and pleasant, but in the afternoon rain began falling. Today it is cool but the sun shines."

The paper added that "work on the new levee will probably be resumed today, though the ground is in fearful condition."

In Peoria, the Transcript noted on Dec. 31, "Yesterday a little girl was following a well dressed lady across one of our muddy street crossings. Seeing that the lady's skirts were trailing in the mud, she said, 'Your skirts are dragging.'"

"It would be a good thing if every elegantly dressed lady could have some little Good Samartian to remind her, under similar circumstances, that she was ruining her garments."

Despite the "mud, mud, mud," churches, theaters, lodges and fire companies carried on with their usual holiday programs.

Although Christmas came on Saturday, most churches held services on Saturday morning and again on Sunday. A few omitted the Saturday service. Christmas parties for Sunday school children were held on various days during the preceding week.

Several papers noted gifts of gold and silver watches. Oyster suppers were mentioned as being more popular than turkey dinners.

Most cities had theatrical performances during the holiday season but the Chicago Inter-Ocean complained that the offerings were not what they should be: "Holidays and amusements are inseparable arms, and the (theater) managers know it. They know that they have only to open their doors and the people will crowd into them."

But in Cairo, the Selden Irwin troupe—which was presenting "Big Bonanza" at the Athenaeum—was held over for another night to play "the great German comedy entitled 'Honnas, of the Old Brewery.'"

The state's December weather had not all been as mild as it was during Christmas week.

Lake and river navigation had been most affected by a cold wave which struck at the beginning of the month. The Inter-Ocean noted that policies and marine insurance generally "expires at noon on Nov. 30 and most ships at-tempted to reach the city by that date."

Some did not reach port and were later reported lost, while the crews of some late arrivals suffered the loss of men and had survivors with frozen feet and ears.

At the end of the month, the paper enumerated 414 vessels tied up at Chicago for the winter, 313 of which were schooners (sailing vessels which carried ore and lumber to the city and returned with grain).

The others were steamers, barges, tugs, etc., and included two steam yachts. Navigation on the Mississippi River had "been closed for some days above Port Byron and we hear that teams have crossed from Port Byron to LeClaire," read the Rock Island Daily Argus of Nov. 30.

Rock Island, which had trouble with freezing fire hydrants the year before, covered them with sawdust-filled barrels in 1875.

On Dec. 28, the Rock Island Daily Union published a street-by-street listing of construction in the city during the year, with the names of the owners and builders, the size and kind of building, and the cost. The total cost was estimated at $348,430.

The largest building was the three-story 60x10-foot $50,000 brick structure erected to house the National Bank. The smallest were 17 homes in the Rodman Subdivision which cost "perhaps $600 each."

Park pre-school registration set

Pre-school registration for children who will be four years old before Feb. 1, 1976, will be taken at the Granite City Park District office from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Tuesday, park superintendent Harold Brown announced.

There will be no phone registration and parents are to bring proof of residence, he added. The class of 35 children will be filled on a first-come, first-served basis.

The only charge for the school is a $2 insurance fee. Pupils will pay 25 cents a day for the juice and cookies served by the teacher.

State harrier meet is upheld

Results of an investigation into the conduct of the 1975 Illinois High School Association boys' state cross-country meet, run Nov. 1 at DeWitt Park, Peoria, were reviewed by the association's board of directors at its meeting last week in the IHSAA office at Bloomington. All the information available, the board found "absolutely no substantive evidence of misconduct by any competing team or individuals," it was announced.
Results of the 1975 meet, as announced at the site of the state final, are official, the board said. "We have reviewed all available information concerning the running of this year's state meet, including motion pictures of the meet, and find no violation of rules or any misconduct by any of the teams or individuals entered," said Executive Secretary Harry Fitzgibbon.
"Our investigation was conducted according to established policies and in response to a request from a member school to determine if the meet was fairly determined," he said. "There had been allegations of trickery by one runner."

Exercise classes, fitness counseling

"Individual fitness counseling is available at the Tri-City Area YMCA, and now that cold weather has arrived people are coming indoors to exercise. There is a gradual change coming about in the public's attitudes about fitness," Michael Tharp, program director of the "Y," said today.

"The number of people interested in cosmetic fitness—trimming down and shaping up for better physical appearance—is being gained on by the number of people who realize that fitness is an end in itself."

"Living longer, combating heart and blood vessel ailments and looking better are all good reasons to work on physical fitness."

"More ailments and looking better are all good reasons to work on physical fitness."

"More and more people, however, are realizing that being physically fit and feeling better, having more energy, reducing stress and sleeping better are as important as and valid reasons as the others."

The YMCA is pioneering nationwide in the area of physical fitness. Exercise classes are based on the needs of the community and the latest in research.

The Tri-City Area YMCA offers sessions on Tuesday and Thursday for women. The midday exercise class is conducted by Betty Fuchs, and meets from 12 noon to 12:45. The class was specifically set up for working women who want to exercise on their lunch hour.

Evening sessions, also on Tuesday and Thursday, are conducted by Gefina Norman.

No matter which one is causing your hair loss, if you wait until you are sick bald and your hair roots are dead you beyond help. So, if you still have hair on top of your head, and would like to stop hair loss and grow more hair... now is the time to do something about it before it's too late.

Devils defeat Trojans

NARROW VICTORY MARGIN of 62-61 is achieved by the Venice Red Devils over the host Madison Trojans Friday. Jaffee Woolfork is shown shooting for Venice, and the player at lower left is Madison's Dan Bankhead.

HIGH SCORER OF GAME James Turner is pictured as he scores a field goal to give his team a 31-22 lead Friday. The defending Madison player, Joe Gulash, awaits the potential rebound.

For lack of a basket the game was led by host Madison High. But to the 1,200 basketball fans who packed into the Trojan gymnasium Friday for the annual cage tilt between Madison and Venice, the ending was only one of many episodes in a thrill-packed contest which some described as being of state championship caliber.

Venice won 62-61 and the contest was close throughout. Madison held a 14-11 lead at the end of the first quarter, having hit on seven of 16 field goals — three by Ron Jones and two by Edwin Garrett.

Venice meanwhile took 18 shots on the basket but only connected on five. The Red Devils missed three in a row in the closing seconds of the quarter.

Amid cheers from "roof-raising" fans, both schools opened the second quarter with aggressive determination, exchanging basket for basket.

Venice surged to within one point of Madison, 18-17, with 6:12 left in the half when Jaffee Woolfork stuffed three balls into the net and Ron Salmond one.

Three baskets by James Turner, two by Reggie Gardner and one by Woolfork gave the Red Devils a 28-22 margin with 2:19 to play in the half, and Madison trailed 31-27 at the intermission.

The Red Devils' quickness prevailed in the third period, with Venice attempting 17 shots from the floor and hitting eight. Madison found the target only three times in 17 attempts.

Gardner, Woolfork, Turner and James Turner provided an eight-point Venice margin, 41-33, in the early going of the third period.

Turner added three more field goals and Woolfork a pair of free throws to put Venice's lead at 49-42 going into the final period of play.

To start the final period, Randall Jones took a rebound and sprinted downcourt, feeding the ball to brother Ron for two points.

Dan Bankhead later provided another basket, and back-to-back charity tosses by Randall Jones put Madison ahead 50-40.

The Red Devils regained the lead, 54-52, with five minutes left to play. They added a point with a free throw by Woolfork as Trojan Ron Jones left the game with five fouls.

The Trojans began a comeback drive with 42 seconds to play and trailing 62-57.

Randall Jones, who garnered 19 points in the contest, injected new life into Madison's prospects with two baskets, the second with 16 seconds showing on the clock.

But the Red Devils went into a victory-preserving stall, passing the ball around the outside.

With six seconds to play, the fans on their feet and Madison attempting to steal the ball on every Red Devil pass, Venice was awarded a free throw.

Randall Jones, waiting near the basket, took the rebound from the missed toss and passed to Joe Gulash near the mid-court stripe for a final scoring attempt.

Gulash's 15-foot shot hit the rim and threatened to drop through the net. But the ball rolled off the rim and onto the floor as the buzzer sounded.

"Joe was forced into a bad position in taking the shot," said Madison Coach Larry Graham.

"He was moving to his left and was forced by Venice's defense to move right, causing him to shoot off balance."

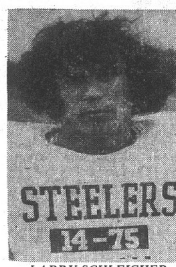

"It hurt us losing Ron Jones to fouls," continued Graham, "but I'm proud of the way we came back."

I guess you might say we are now banking on tradition to win the regional tournament. Normally, the loser of this contest goes on to win the regional.

Venice's Richard Essington had praise for both clubs and cited the Red Devils' speed and aggressiveness as the key to the final score.

Venice scored 28 field goals to Madison's 26. Madison tossed in three more foul shots than the Red Devils, 9-6, and committed the most fouls, 10-12.

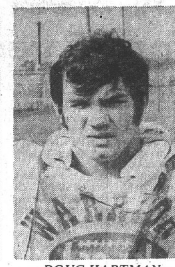

Rebounding was nearly equal—Madison 36 and Venice 35. Venice gave up possession 10

Regional grid honors

Quad-City football players received no all-conference honors this fall, but it was no reflection on their sparkling performance. For the first season in fans' memory, all of the local high school varsity gridteams played independent schedules.

Attending to their ability and determination, local athletes have received extensive regional honors since the end of the season, being included in a variety of selections made by coaches and others familiar with football.

Along with winning all-state honors, Larry Schleicher of GCHS North has been given the unprecedented distinction of being named to the starting offensive and defensive teams in balloting for the entire St. Louis metropolitan area.

The 175-pound senior was both a defensive halfback and offensive split end, intercepting seven passes and catching 44 himself for 756 yards and six touchdowns. He also is skilled in track, basketball and baseball.

Others accorded all-metropolitan St. Louis area recognition include, on third team offense—Greg Corey, North quarterback.

In the Illinois portion of the St. Louis area, all-district honors have gone to:

First team offense—End Schleicher and Quarterback Corey, both of North.

First team defense—Halfback Schleicher of North.

Second team offense—Guard times on turnovers, and Madison eight times.

Other than Randall Jones, those scoring for Madison were: Ron Jones 16 points, Gulash nine, Edwin Garrett eight, Bankhead six, Clayton Harris two, and Ron Williams one.

Turner led Venice with 20 points. Gardner had 15, James Crowder 12, Woolfork 11 and Ron Salmond, four.

Doug Hartman of GCHS South. Second team defense—End Fray Clay of GCHS North, Guard Hartman of South and Halfback Joe Ward of South.

Honorable mention for offense—Tackle James Shemwell of North and Center Doug Heth of North.

All-independent in Illinois district, for offense: Guard Hartman of South, Center Heth of North, Guard Keith Moran of South, Tackle Shemwell of North, End Schleicher of North, Quarterback Corey of North and Placekicker Bryan Bunian of South.

Defensive all-independent honors—Guard Hartman of South, End Clay of North, Halfback Ward of South and Halfback Schleicher of North.

Deadline for 'hoop shoot'

Deadline for Quad-City area boys and girls aged 8-13 to enter the Elks Lodge 1063 "hoop shoot" free throw contest at Grigsby Junior High on Saturday, Dec. 13, is Tuesday, Dec. 9.

Those who have signed up at their respective schools have from now until Dec. 9 to complete and return application forms to be eligible to compete.

588 forms have been sent to the schools, Chairman Dick Yates reports.

The contest, part of a statewide tourney which will conclude in January with state finals, is divided into three age groups — 12-13, 10-11 and 8-9.

A girl and a boy champion and girl and boy runner-up from each of the three age groups will advance to district competition, of which Don Watson is chairman. Victors there will go to the state, and later regional and national competition is planned.

The schedule at Grigsby is: ages 12-13 at 10 a.m., ages 10-11 at 11:30 a.m., and ages 8-9 at 1 p.m. Dec. 13.

North five outscores two week-end opponents

GCHS North cagers found the right combination during the weekend to bounce back from back-to-back losses a week ago and win two straight, 68-64 Friday over Springfield Griffin and 70-52 Saturday over East St. Louis Assumption, both at the Granite City gymnasium.

North trailed 17-15 going into the second quarter of play against Springfield, and then capitalized on the visitors' fouls to pull ahead by three points, 37-34, at halftime on the strength of 12 charity tosses and five field goals.

GCHS South matmen boasted a 5-0 record going into the final match of a triangular meet here with Decatur Eisenhower and Bloomington Saturday afternoon.

But the Warriors' winning ways were destined to come to an end in the final meet.

South was 3-0 for the season before meeting Edwardsville here Friday. The Warriors won 38-12 with eight victories in 12 bouts.

The Warriors on Saturday gained a 51-9 win over Decatur in the first part of the triangle meet before bowing 27-20 to Bloomington in the second meet.

The Warriors trailed throughout the meet with Bloomington, but stayed close until the visitors opened up a 10-point lead in the heavier weight classes.

Results were: 88—Basore lost in 5:50; 106—Forshee won 13-1; 112—Perkins lost 13-10; 119—Al Schuler won 6-3; 126—Gaines lost 12-3; 132—Moore won 7-4; 138—Hasty a 6-6 draw; 145—Fetter lost 9-4; 155—Carmody lost 5-0; 167—Patterson a 5-5 draw; 165—Wilson lost 6-4; and Heavyweight Mark Naglich won in 1:17.

Soccer Cougars 2nd in nation

The Dons of the University of San Francisco made it look easy here Sunday afternoon as they demolished Coach Bob Queller's South Illinois University at Edwardsville Cougars kickers 4-0 for the NCAA Division I soccer tournament championships.

Taking third place honors was Brown U., which turned back Howard University, 2-0, in the curtain raiser before an estimated 4,400 fans.

Perhaps because of Saturday's triple-overtime victory over Brown by the Dons, they might have lulled SIUE into a false sense of security going into the championships game.

SIUE had advanced to its shot at the national championship with a convincing 3-1 victory over defending champ Howard Saturday.

The Dons, however, came out shooting from the hip and it paid off. Their Greg McKeown took a pass from Mai Rochie at 6:24 into the game and from them there was never much doubt as to the outcome.

San Francisco played so well that it didn't permit a Cougar shot on goal until nearly nine minutes after the kickoff.

Whatever hopes the large crowd of Cougar fans might have still held were rudely dashed when Paul Korn, on an assist from Tony Igwe, scored at 23:09 and, less than six minutes later, Vic Orbelaz, a Don sub, took a pass from Rochie and blasted the ball past the keeper.

Home owners with '76 mortgage can obtain interest on tax money

Would Illinoisians like to have two weeks worth of their property taxes paid for them? A new law which takes effect next year will allow a citizen to pledge an interest-bearing savings account that permits him to pay his own real estate taxes.

"You pay your taxes from other funds while the pledged savings account remains untouched as a guarantee of your tax obligations," Robert J. Hansen, president of the Illinois Savings and Loan League, explained today.

If your tax bill is $1,000 a year, your pledged savings account earns you more than $50 a year in interest — or enough to pay for about two weeks worth of your property tax," Hansen said.

The law, sponsored by State Senator Robert Egan of Chicago and Rep. Jack Williams of Franklin Park, provides for an option to the usual escrow arrangement in providing for payment of property taxes. It applies to mortgages started after Jan. 1, 1976.

Under the common tax escrow method, the borrower is required to make regular payments and the lender pays the taxes and other charges on the property covered by the mortgages.

But with an escrow account, the borrower receives no interest income. Lenders see the escrow account as a service, and to pay interest is to further increase their cost of doing that service, Hansen said.

The pledged savings account, on the other hand, allows the homeowner to handle his own bills for property taxes and receive interest, while giving the lender the advantage of the security of the property is safeguarded by the pledged account.

Sen. Egan, whose district includes the Norwood Park area of Chicago, says 90 per cent of the dwellings in his district are single-family dwellings and that a frequent question he received was why interest wasn't paid on escrow accounts.

The feeling was current, he said, that "if the escrow is not being used, they feel it's theirs — that they have the right to collect interest."

He reports that "most people aware of the new law are grateful for it." The law does not apply to those lending institutions that use the capitalization method for receipt of payments for taxes. Capitalization involves the crediting of tax payments directly to the loan principal. The loan balance is reduced when the taxes are paid, in such instances.

The law applies to single family, owner-occupied residential property, and only to those mortgages opened after Jan. 1, 1976.

The pledged savings account provided in the law covers only tax payments, but the lender could include in it payments for insurance and other assessments.

One savings and loan association has offered a pledged account in lieu of escrow for 15 years.

Donald P. Morton, president of Arlington Heights Federal Savings and Loan Association, says the combination of monthly principal, interest, taxes and insurance escrow mortgage payments "almost inevitably irritates the borrower and encourages an antagonistic relationship at the outset of the first notice of increased monthly payments."

In Illinois, tax receipts are often 12 to 18 months behind the period to which they apply. When the homeowner learns that a rise in taxes isn't covered in past payments, his anger is directed more at the savings institution than at the taxing body, it is felt. The borrower is further annoyed that his money in the escrow fund is not producing any interest return, Morton says.

Arlington Federal Savings has been requiring the borrower to pledge at least one and one-half times the total of the previous year's taxes, insurance and assessments, and this amount remains intact throughout the agreement.

The new Illinois law, known as the Mortgage Escrow Account Act (Public Act 79-625), provides that if the borrower with a pledged account fails to pay his own taxes, the lender can establish an escrow account without interference.

The act further says that on conventional loans when 35 per cent of the mortgage is paid off, the borrower may terminate an escrow account.

At that point — some years later — the loan is said to be "seasoned." A record of timely payments has been shown.

The borrower must then be given the privilege of continuing the escrow, or discontinuing it and paying his own taxes and assessments.

But the lender may re-establish an escrow account if the homeowner fails to pay his tax obligations and good faith efforts have shown he did not do so.

Not covered by the pledged account are federally supported

Panel talks by county officers

Nelson Hagnauer, president of the Madison County Board, will be one of the speakers at a panel discussion Tuesday at 1 p.m. in the auditorium at the Farm Bureau Building in Edwardsville.

The session, sponsored by the University of Illinois Cooperative Extension Service, is planned to provide an opportunity for the county Home Economics and Agriculture Extension Councils and the 14 committees to become more familiar with the operation of county government.

Also featured on the panel will be Miss Evelyn Bowles, county clerk; John Kravynak, county auditor; and J. J. Gramlich, chairman of the County Board's finance committee.

The Cooperative Extension Service as a county resource will be discussed by Bob Carlock, area adviser in community resource development.

Participants will include Dean Kellams, area adviser with the University of Illinois, and Louis Koelling, Godfrey, a former Extension Council member.

Oil spill is cleared

Inspection last week by the United States Coast Guard of the Mississippi River at the north end of the Chain of Rocks Canal revealed that 24,900 gallons of diesel fuel which leaked from a barge had been dissipated and no longer presented a problem.

Plans had been made to vacuum the fuel off the water if necessary.

The spill apparently occurred Sunday when a barge entering the north end of the canal sprang a leak when it was thrown out of the shipping channel.

A fine of $5,000 for the spill may face the Ashland Oil Co. owner of the barge.

THE SCHERMER BULLETIN
Signs of the times: Our Meat Manager John Meinboth pointed out to us this week that the Bar-B-Q sliced meat in pints, quarts, and gallons has come full circle. Originally, (years ago) Pork and Beef were priced the same; then Beef priced at a premium; then both the same; and now PORK priced at a premium.
Turkey parts are probably one of the best buys in the meat department. Drumsticks, thighs, and wings offer the meat for economical meals. In fish our pre-cooked portions look better and better. Swift Premium pre-fried chicken is also worth considering.
We finally received some dried apricots to complete our dried fruit selection. 8 oz. pks. at a frightening price. We can see the Christmas Baking starting already; our supplies are complete. If you find something that we overlooked please let us know.
The produce department shows the seasonally expected: improving quality of oranges, gr. x fruit, tangelos, etc.
Continued butterfat and milk-solid shortages nationally are having their toll in milk, cheese, and ice-cream prices. Until the supply situation changes, this trend will continue.

Sausage-making time at St. John Lutheran

A once-a-year event, eagerly awaited by those who appreciate homemade sausage, will occur this week when St. John Lutheran Church members combine their efforts to make 1,200 pounds of fine quality sausage.

The sausage will be made Friday at St. John Lutheran Church, St. Clair and Dale avenues, and distributed at the church between 8:30 a.m. and 1 p.m. Saturday.

Because demand for the sausage has increased each year since the project was initiated eight years ago, those wishing to purchase it are being urged to place their order in advance.

Last December many hopeful purchasers were disappointed when all the sausage was sold long before the purchasing cutoff time, Harold Gebhardt, church elder and project chairman, reported.

Advance orders will be taken by calling the church office at 676-4559, between the hours of 1 and 4 p.m. Tuesday through Friday, or from 6 p.m. to 7 p.m. today through Thursday.

The meat will sell for $1.75 per pound, an increase of 25 cents over last year's price, according to Mrs. Harold Hackney, whose husband is president of the St. John congregation.

The sausage will be available in bulk or link form and comes in plain or garlic flavor. Special spices used in making the sausage add to its unique flavor.

Orders placed in advance should be picked up at the church from 9:30 a.m. to 1 p.m. Saturday. Any extra sausage will be sold at the church during the same time period.

Vital decision awaits Venice school voters on Dec. 20

Venice School District voters are faced with one of their most important decisions of the year and decade when they go to the polls on Saturday, Dec. 20.

The special election calls for public authorization of a 60-cent increase in the present educational fund tax rate ceiling of $2.05 for each $100 of assessed valuation in District Three. The current educational fund rate is at the maximum, and the overall Venice school rate is $2.764.

The district's assessment base has decreased from $39 million to $31 million during the past 12 years, a period in which inflation has had a pronounced impact on salary levels and on the cost of acquiring and operating school facilities and equipment.

As a result of the cost squeeze, the school district has reduced the number of faculty members and non-certificated staff members as well as "tightening the belt" on various other expenditures. Average class size, then, and the already limited curriculum has been further streamlined.

Despite such economies, the financial situation has worsened. Several Venice tax rate elections in 1973-75 failed to attract sufficient public support. The new rate proposal is more conservative figure than those submitted to the voters previously, however, and other factors relating to the monetary need also have changed.

It will be constructive if all eligible voters have an opportunity to learn as much as possible about the Venice school system's programs and needs. Meetings like that set for 7:30 tonight in the high school library will help achieve this objective.

Imaginary numbers, shaky assumptions on airport issue

Comment by Post-Dispatch—Transportation Secretary Coleman has released a study comparing Lambert Field and the proposed airport at Columbia-Waterloo.

The very best that we can say for it is that it promises to be the last report that will be issued before a decision is made. Mr. Coleman may well find some useful information in the study, which was prepared by the accounting and consulting firm of Peat, Marwick, Mitchell & Co., but it appears to us that the document rests on a number of shaky assumptions.

PMM concludes that Lambert can be improved to take care of the region's commercial aviation requirements until the year 2000 and that considerable savings could be realized if the transfer to the east side were delayed until then. Lambert's ability to handle increasing traffic, the study said, would depend, among other things, on its being equipped with improved electronic equipment and the switch by airlines to wide-bodied aircraft.

As to improved technology, many competent authorities have declared that such equipment, land use, and existing systems, which now are only in the development stage, are unlikely to be in operation soon enough for Lambert's purpose.

IT MIGHT TAKE A WAR TO REGAIN OUR SENSE OF BELIEF IN OUR COUNTRY

Federal debt deficit much worse than official figures

By RICHARD L. LESHNER
President, Chamber of Commerce of the United States

If you think the federal debt is too big now, wait till you hear what it really is. The federal government—like our local and state governments—uses a relatively unsophisticated cash accounting system in its reports to the people.

That is, income is recorded when it is received and spending is recorded when money is actually paid out. At the end of the fiscal (budget) year, total income for the year is compared with spending for the year. The balance is called a "deficit" or a "surplus."

What's wrong with that system? It doesn't count debts that are incurred now for payment at some time in the future, beyond the current fiscal year.

In other words, it doesn't give a realistic picture of true indebtedness. Look at this way: Suppose you have an income of $10,000 a year and annual expenses of $9,000.

On a simple cash accounting basis, you would appear to have a surplus of $1,000 at the end of each year. But suppose Junior will be ready for college in five years, and you expect his education to cost you $5,000.

Prudence would suggest setting aside $1,000 or so each year to accumulate the money needed for that future expense. So your apparent "surplus" of $1,000 a year is deceptive.

In a similar manner, the federal government commits itself to many programs that cost little or nothing initially but can be expected to cost many billions of dollars in the future. Yet, the annual federal budget does not reflect these long-term debts. In effect, nothing is "set aside."

There is an accounting system that looks at the whole picture. It's called "accrual" accounting, and it is used by virtually every big business. Accounting on a consolidated accrual basis requires that spending commitments be recorded as they are earned, regardless of when the cash is actually paid out.

The annual balance sheet compares overall assets, including tax revenues and overall liabilities, including those spending commitments. What would the federal financial look like if we used this more sophisticated method of accounting? That's what one of the big private accounting firms, Arthur Andersen & Co., wondered recently.

So, using data from government publications, they prepared some consolidated financial statements on the United States government.

The results are enlightening, if not frightening. For example:

According to the official federal accounting methods, the total federal debt by the end of fiscal 1974 was $486.2 billion. But applying the standards used by Arthur Andersen, it would have been calculated as $811.7 billion.

Worse yet, the "official" deficit for fiscal 1974 alone was $3.5 billion, whereas Andersen put the deficit at $9.1 billion—nearly 30 times the official figure!

I'm making no suggestion of calculated deception by anyone in government. Each set of figures is truthful in its own way. But the government is just using the accounting methods it has always used.

Further, Arthur Andersen makes it quite clear that what it has done is subject to many qualifications and leaves much room for legitimate dispute. And finally, government does not exist to earn a profit, as does a private corporation.

But all that said, the question raised by Arthur Andersen remains both valid and important.

The present federal accounting and budgeting procedures give the American people enough information about the financial problems facing the country. Obviously, the answer is no. Someday, we'll have to account for our ignorance.

Tapping on to the line has resulted in a break in the line, and not getting used, or a lien put on your house, or at least a phone call from Mr. Rutledge. He sure had time to call me. If the man did not have a permit, isn't there some kind of law against this? Isn't it illegal to do this?

If you do not have a law to cover this, maybe the city officials had better get one. Mr. Davies said he had asked four attorneys, and a few city attorneys. No one seemed to recall hearing about it, with the exception of a couple of council members.

This has been going on since 1968, when Mr. Davies started talking about it. Mr. Rutledge said he asked the city attorney regarding this matter, and he told him that his hands were bound. Mr. Rutledge said he did not know anything about that, so Mr. Davies asked Clerk Stevens if he remembered it. He said he could remember something like that happening, but not just when it was.

Now, how can you tap into a line and not get used, or a lien put on your house, or at least a phone call from Mr. Rutledge? He sure had time to call me. If the man did not have a permit, isn't there some kind of law against this? Isn't it illegal to do this?

Opposes smoking area for students

To the Editor:

I would like to point out to the school board what in my opinion is a most grievous and glaringly apparent error in judgment on the part of the board and school officials in establishing and approving a smoking area in public school grounds for our students.

It is certain that more students will take up smoking because our school board and school leadership have encouraged them to do so.

This will most certainly create a fire hazard to all the students, not just those who smoke, as more students will be smoking a smoke in the buildings and on the grounds in other than the designated smoking areas.

To those of you who have been brainwashed into believing that your child is safe so long as you have taught him not to smoke, I remind you that your non-smoker is as likely as the smoker to be trampled in case of a fire in public school grounds or in school buildings.

Providing a smoking area on school grounds for students will promote the freedom of the average taxpayer, but they bring additional powers to the politicians, those who benefit from the tobacco industry, and those who profit from the actions of Illinois politicians.

It is ironic that past school leadership vigorously enforced a no-smoking rule. Now that we have a wealth of information as to the agony and death that cigarette smoking brings to our society, this policy will bring nothing but harm.

We will have to pick up the tab for increased Social Security taxes, aid to dependent children, and welfare payments to disabled smokers and their families and increased payments to families of smokers who die earlier due to the many diseases directly related to cigarette smoking. We will have to provide more policemen to apprehend illicit drug users and more prisons for those who commit crimes to supply themselves with drugs. And we will have to witness the suffering of our children and their peers who get hooked on cigarettes.

A lesser problem, but a problem nevertheless, is contained within the awful stench of smokers.

So, parents, regardless of the teachings you instill, the kind of home you provide, or the kind of child you raise, you still, upon your child, he or she is still going to have to deal with the problem of smoking.

The decision of the school board to approve a smoking area on school grounds for students is of no benefit whatever to the students or to the average taxpayer in this community.

It is of tremendous benefit to the tobacco companies, the merchants who sell the cigarettes, the illicit drug profiteers, the mob and the politicians who gain more power from levying increased taxes on tobacco than on other products.

Increased taxes are steadily eroding the freedom of the average taxpayer, but they bring additional powers to the politicians, those who benefit from the tobacco industry, and those who profit from the actions of Illinois politicians.

Sen. Charles H. Percy, R-Ill., who had asked for the initial GAO investigation in Illinois, was joined by Sen. Adlai Stevenson, D-Ill., in a request to GAO for a follow-up investigation "with particular emphasis on the charges that efforts were made to impede the earlier investigation."

Percy had advised Walker that GAO was prepared to make some "very serious allegations" about his administration before the Senate Subcommittee on Long-Term Care.

During the hearing, Percy interrupted to announce that he had just been handed a note that Gov. Walker had asked for a delay in GAO's testimony, but by then it was too late.

Walker, however, did have his Washington representative, James Seelye, at the hearing and advised that the Senate Subcommittee on Long-Term Care.

Goff in a prepared statement said that a section chief he supervised a staff of 200 auditors, investigators, case reviewers, data analysts, computer specialists and statisticians engaged in 30 projects at any given time. He estimated a saving of $40 million in fiscal 1974.

At the direction of Joel

Edelman, then director of public aid, Goff launched a series of investigations and Goff gave sworn testimony at Percy's suggestion because the senator feared it "could be damaging."

Edelman cautioned Goff that he would be held in contempt if he intentionally misled the subcommittee, and Edelman agreed with Percy that another hearing should be held soon to provide an opportunity for response or rebuttals to Goff's testimony.

"When they asked me what vendors they should audit, I told them specifically that it was up to them to decide whether or not to divulge any specific information to any federal audit group."

I hoped this blunt statement would tell them what was going on. Apparently it didn't, because they went away and never requested any information.

In his testimony and under Percy's questioning, Goff discussed Simon's role in some detail. Simon was paid more than $100,000 for 11 to 12 months' work on the task force.

"Simon reported that he found only six vendors and only $300,000 that were questionable," Goff said. "To this date, all of that amount has not been recovered by the department and none, absolutely none, of the vendors have been prosecuted."

Percy asked Goff to "identify John Simon and his political affiliation." Goff said all he knew was that his father was a judge in the Chicago area.

Goff said he had no information, saying the senior Simon was Seymour Simon, who "worked his way up through the ranks" in Chicago as 4th Ward committeeman, city alderman and president of the Cook County Board.

Goff mentioned Lauro Staples, a member of the governor's Office of Special Investigations, who was John Simon's assistant on the task force.

"Immediately prior to her work on the task force, Staples was quoted in the Better Government Association for what was described to me as 'political espionage,'" Goff said.

"She had apparently been releasing highly confidential information to the governor's Office for political purposes while she was a member of the BGA."

The Governor's Office of Special Investigation in the Walker administration emerged again in Goff's testimony when he recounted a confrontation with Donald Page Moore, Walker's appointed head of the task force.

Goff said Moore "admitted" that certain individuals Goff's staff had under investigation "had made significant contributions to his political campaign for state's attorney in Chicago."

Goff told Moore he intended to pursue the matter and that was the last time they talked, although they had conferred several months on the task force.

"Shortly thereafter," Goff resumed his testimony. "When I attempted to pursue the investigations of these persons, a member of the Office of Special Investigations threatened my staff by stating that anyone continuing to investigate these people would go down with the ship."

Goff continued the investigation and shortly thereafter was removed from the task force by the welfare director, James L. Trainor. I was given no explanation other than the agency was reorganizing."

Goff said Richard Dunn, also in the governor's Office of Special Investigations, "threatened" the public information officer of the welfare agencies who was helping the quality control staff in the medical investigation.

He said the welfare agency was helping the quality control staff in the medical investigation. He said the welfare agency was helping the quality control staff in the medical investigation.

"The threat was effective, since she resigned shortly after she received the notice," as did her replacement soon after, Goff said.

He charged that the final report of the task force last spring was "biased, inaccurate and purposely erroneous."

"The authors of that report knew that the data developed by my quality control staff on assignment to the task force showed that special treatment was being received by factor and billings companies under investigation, and yet they chose to disregard this information."

He said the welfare agency did dismiss two employees "for accepting gifts, for favors done by these factor companies."

He also charged that "dozens of vendors" are engaged in "wholesale fraud" as opposed to the "retail fraud" in the task force report.

"The fraud is still continuing and I believe it has actually increased," Goff insisted.

Neighborhoods can aid lights drive

To the Editor:

If every neighborhood would have their own personal drive, and every neighbor donate just one dollar—think how bright the Salvation Army Tree of Lights would be. Think how bright the eyes of the people the funds are used for would be.

Let's all donate $1 to show we are all still human beings with feelings of compassion. Let's help the many neighborhoods and lights we can get on that tree.

ANNOUNCEMENT OF INTENT TO PERFORM FLOOD ELEVATION STUDY IN THE CITY OF VENICE, ILLINOIS

The Federal Insurance Administration of the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development announced today that under authority of the National Flood Insurance Act of 1968, as amended (P.L. 90-448), and the Flood Disaster Protection Act of 1973 (P.L. 93-234), it will fund a detailed study of the flood hazard areas in the City of Venice, Madison County, Illinois.

The study will be performed for the Federal Insurance Administration by the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, St. Louis District, St. Louis, Missouri.

The purpose of this study is to examine and evaluate the flood hazard areas in the community which are developed, or which are likely to be developed, and to determine flood elevations for those areas. Flood elevations will be used by the community to carry out the flood plain management objectives of the National Flood Insurance Program. They will also be used as the basis for determining the appropriate flood insurance premium rates applicable for new buildings and their contents, as well as determining the rates to be used for the second layer of insurance on existing buildings and contents.

This announcement is intended to notify all interested persons of the commencement of this study so they may have an opportunity at a public meeting, to be announced later, to bring any relevant facts and technical data concerning local flood hazards to the attention of the Chief Executive Officer of the community for forwarding to the appropriate representatives of the Federal Insurance Administration.

Canal freight at new high

Record freight shipments totaling 5,937,466 moved through the Chain of Rocks locks and canal at Granite City during the month of October, the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers reported Friday.

The new record is the highest volume of freight to move through the canal here since July this year when 5,670,373 tons were locked.

October shipments included 1,861,336 tons of freight moving upriver and 3,976,130 tons moving down river. The largest shipment in upriver traffic included 665,000 tons of coal, while the largest downriver shipment was 3,227,030 tons of grain.

The shipments brought to 48,506,756 the total tonnage locked through the Chain of Rocks canal during the ten months of the year through October, an increase of 1,846,736 tons over the 46,660,020 tons shipped during the same period of the previous year.

The report showed a total of 6,973 vessels moved through the locks and canal during October, up from 6,726 vessels the previous month. A total of 649 lockages was made in October, down from 733 in September. These figures brought to 61,601 the total number of vessels using the locks during the ten-month period, and brought to 7,161 the total number of lockages during the period. These compare with 58,356 vessels passing through the canal during the same period of 1974, and 7,227 lockages during the same 1974 period.

'Senator Sam' seeks re-election

Senator Sam M. Vadalabene (Democrat, Edwardsville) has filed his petition for re-election as state senator from the 56th District. He has held the seat since 1970, after previously serving two terms in the Illinois House of Representatives.

"In my last campaign," Vadalabene said, "my supporters used the slogan, 'Sen. Sam stands for service.' In everything I have done in the General Assembly, I have tried to live up to the high standard. I think my record proves it."

"While I have been engaged in public service, I have gained a reputation for being a hard worker. As a full-time senator, I honestly think that I have earned it. I have always considered it a privilege to serve the fine citizens of this area; I hope they will consider me worthy to continue as their senator."

"During my past term, I think my potential for effectiveness has increased with experience and seniority. I would like to put this advantage to its fullest use in furthering the interests and aspirations of the people of the 56th District."

"Looking back over my past term, I recognize that I have been engaged in some controversy. At all times, I have tried to let everyone know exactly where I stand. I respect everyone's right to disagree with the things I try to do, but I don't let that deter me from trying to get things done."

"This attitude has helped me in the General Assembly. No one thought we would even come close to victory on such things as the civic center and independence for Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville."

"Whether we were seeking safer rail crossings, more assistance to education, safer and more convenient roads and bikeways, the expansion of the docking and warehouse facilities of the Tri-City Port District or more jobs and economic improvement, I have tried in every way possible to prove that Sen. Sam still stands for service."

Currently Vadalabene serves as chairman of the Executive Administration and Appointments Committee.

He is a member of the following other committees: Appropriations; Pensions, Personnel and Veterans Affairs; and Transportation. He also is a member of the Agricultural Export Advisory Committee; the Legislative Audit Committee; the Illinois Bicentennial Committee, of which he is vice-chairman.

Sen. Vadalabene appears as chairman of the Cities and Villages Municipal Problems Commission. A member of the Bi-State Development District and Bi-State Development Agency Visitation Commission, he is chairman of the Legislative Advisory Commission to Southwestern Illinois Metropolitan Area Planning and assistant to the vice chairman of the Motor Vehicle Laws Study Commission.

Vadalabene formerly served as an Edwardsville Township auditor in Madison County and has served on the staffs of former State Auditor Michael J. Howlett and former State Superintendent of Public Instruction George T. Wilkins Jr.

Member of the Illinois Youth Commission Neighborhood Services program, Vadalabene also is a former member of the Edwardsville Park and Recreation Board, and supervised that board's summer recreation program for four years.

He is a member of the Knights of Columbus, Moose Lodge, American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars and recently was named honorary life member of the Edwardsville Kiwanis.

The present Vadalabene Park recreation and baseball-softball playing area in Edwardsville is named in honor of the senator, who led the effort to develop it into its present state from its prior existence as Voge Field.

Vadalabene also has served as chairman of the Madison County Heart Association fund drive, and has been active with the Madison County Chapter of the March of Dimes and the Sabin Oral Vaccine Administration Committee in Madison County.

Born in Detroit in 1914, he attended St. Boniface School in Edwardsville. He completed his elementary education at Sacred Heart School in Pana, and graduated from Pana Township High School.

He married the former Mary Lesko and has raised five children in the Edwardsville community. He resides at 64 Circle Drive there when not in Springfield for legislative duties.

Walters leads Reagan vote drive in area

Former State Representative Robert S. Walters, 1029 Langdon St., Alton, has been named Southern Illinois regional director for the Illinois Citizens for Reagan Committee.

The appointment was announced by Congressman Philip N. Crane (R-12th), chairman of Illinois Citizens for Reagan, and State Rep. Donald L. Totten, (R-3rd), campaign director.

Walters accepted the position following a meeting with former California Governor Ronald Reagan Nov. 16 in Chicago at the Citizens for Reagan Headquarters.

As Southern Illinois director, Walters will be responsible for all Reagan campaign activities in this area.

"I am excited to be involved in the Reagan campaign for the Republican nomination for President," Walters said. "The grassroots support he has received in my area has been overwhelming, and I am convinced a successful campaign effort will be waged."

"Our entire Illinois Citizens for Reagan Committee will work with the governor. He indicated his gratitude for our efforts and assured us he will campaign to win."

Jackson campaigns

"This country has been drifting with neither plans nor programs. If I were President, I wouldn't put anything with that nonsense. I would put things back together again," Sen. Henry M. Jackson (D, Washington) said Thursday afternoon at Bi-State Parks Airport.

President Ford is a "nice guy but he doesn't get the job done," Jackson added.

Making an air tour of Illinois in seeking delegate support, the veteran legislator conferred in Chicago with Mayor Richard Daley.

He did not ask for Daley's endorsement "but it would be extremely helpful," Jackson commented. He also visited Peoria, Springfield and Moline.

Sen. Jackson described this as a "pivotal state," partly because the March primary in Illinois could affect the New York primary in April.

"Illinois is fourth biggest in the number of delegates," the candidate said, adding that he expects to be one of the remaining two or three major candidates he thinks will be still actively campaigning by next summer.

TOOLS STOLEN
Robert Pope, 2262 Delmar Ave., reported at 2:35 p.m. Saturday the theft of an assortment of tools, valued between $300 and $500, from his truck, parked in the driveway at home. Among the items taken were a circular saw, two pouches of hand tools, a cordless drill and bits, socket sets and a timing light.

Registration opens for Madison adult classes

Spring semester registration for both general studies courses and college credit courses at the Madison Extension Center of Belleville Area College (BAC) will be held today through Thursday and Jan. 5 through 8.

Registration will be held at the Madison High School, Sixth and Farish Streets, Madison, from 9 a.m. until 3 p.m. and 6 p.m. until 8 p.m., according to Charles Steptoe, coordinator at the Madison center.

Fees for the general studies courses are payable at the time of registration. Credit courses fees will be billed to the individual by the college at a later date. A general rule of thumb for Credit Courses would be a one time $10 registration fee and then $9 per credit hour, so a three credit hour course in the credit courses would be $37.00—$10.00 would be a one time registration fee and $27 tuition, Steptoe said.

The next course will cost $27. There would be no other registration fee while the student is attending.

Registration will end Jan. 15, for credit and the first day of class in the general studies courses. Most courses will last one semester or sixteen weeks.

Mrs. Herndon dies at 87

Mrs. Ida Herndon, 87, of the Anna Henry Nursing Home, Edwardsville, died at 6:10 a.m. Saturday at St. Joseph Hospital, Highland, where she was a patient four days.

Mrs. Herndon had been 116 years and resided at the nursing home the past three years. Previously, she had lived in Granite City for 13 years.

Born in Clear Springs, Mo., Mrs. Herndon was a member of Calvary Baptist Church. Her husband, Joseph W. Herndon, died in 1958.

She is survived by three daughters, Mrs. Pauline Reading and Mrs. William (Maxine) Davis, both of Granite City, and Mrs. Gerry Hines of Tempe, Ariz.; four sons, Lester Herndon of Overland, Mo., Rusington Herndon of Indianapolis, Ind., Joe Herndon of Alton and Virgil Herndon of Edwardsville; one brother, George Pruitt of Denver, Colo.; 23 grandchildren and 25 great-grandchildren.

Funeral services are to be held at 2:30 p.m. today. Details are listed in the obituary column.

State income tax booklets, with Lincoln image, mailed

A portrait of Abraham Lincoln appears on the cover of next year's Illinois income tax booklets, which are being mailed to 4.5 million state income taxpayers.

The picture is a Bicentennial year tribute to the 16th president of the United States and Illinois' most famous citizen, according to State Revenue Director Robert H. Alphin.

"In Mr. Lincoln, Illinois has given the people of the U. S. a model for honest and fairness. These were the attributes on which this nation was founded 200 years ago, and they are valid today," Alphin said.

"The Department of Revenue strives for these same principles in the administration of the tax laws enacted by representatives of the people of Illinois."

Alphin said the tax booklets, which include tax return forms and instructions for completing them, are being mailed earlier this year.

The standard cost per credit hour is $9 for indigent residents. This, however, does not include the cost of books. Ten people are needed to have a class. Classes start the week of Jan. 19.

Steptoe said that any public aid or welfare person who is interested in taking classes must make the request by calling 656-8100, extension 62, in the Edwardsville office at least three weeks before the start of classes.

Any senior citizen may be able to attend at a reduced cost. Interested persons may contact Mr. Steptoe.

High school seniors may take general studies or credit courses with the consent of the principal.

Night care services will be available for children between the ages of 4 and 9. A fee receipt and a small fee will be required. Qualified staff will conduct the center with an emphasis on the parent. Time will be 6:30 p.m. to 10 p.m. Students may register their children by Jan. 15 if interested. There must be 20 children to offer this service, Steptoe said.

The 13th Street-Tudor Avenue exit from the eastbound collector-distributor roadway is being reopened to allow eastbound Interstate 55-70 traffic to use the 4th Street exit in East St. Louis.

Traffic can continue, for the present, to use the 13th Street-Tudor Avenue access to the complex to travel west on I-55-70 to St. Louis and east on I-55-70.

Since the repair work is being done in segments on a sequential schedule to minimize traffic congestion, the roadway segment providing access to the 13th-Tudor exit from westbound I-55-70 will be closed briefly today.

It is anticipated, however, that prior to Jan. 1, Illinois Route Three will be reopened to traffic. This will allow traffic to again have direct access to St. Louis via Rt. Three to westbound I-55-70. Eastbound traffic on I-55-70 coming from St. Louis can continue to exit on Three to the south.

The segment of roadway allowing westbound traffic on I-55-70 to exit to the south on Route Three will remain closed.

Westbound traffic desiring to go south on Three will continue to exit at St. Clair Avenue and follow the marked detour via 8th Street, Broadway Avenue, 8th Street and Mississippi Avenue.

The Department of Transportation will provide periodic information regarding routing of traffic as the work progresses. Motorists are asked to "be patient and on the alert when traveling through the complex area."

The repair work, being done under a contract with H. H. Hall Construction Co. and Illinois Ben Hur Co. for $3.4 million, was started after inspections showed 342 expansion bearings were not functioning properly and were causing damage to the steel girders and tops of supporting piers.

The completion date for the contract is Nov. 1, 1976.

Crime rate

The existence of the metropolitan area undoubtedly has an effect on crime here. Socio-economic patterns in cities vary. Poor areas experience different crime levels than affluent cities.

Differing accuracy in reporting crimes by police departments is another factor which may affect the statistics. Some are painstaking in compiling crime statistics while others may overlook reporting some types of crime.

The statistics do, however, give a rough impression of how the Quad-Cities compare to the rest of Illinois.

The crime rate in Illinois cities of 25,000 to 50,000 population is slightly lower than crime in Illinois generally.

Throughout Illinois, 577,000 major crimes were reported in 1974, in a population of 11,311,000, which translated to a crime rate of one crime for 651 persons, or 5.184 crimes for every 100,000 persons in the state.

The 5.184 compare with 5.151 in cities of 25,000 to 50,000 residents.

Other Illinois rates per 100,000 persons were: murder—11.8 persons; rape—27.7; robbery—23.4; burglary—1.264, and vehicle theft—53.14.
